Dear Bill:

I am delighted that you will be joining us in New York to attend John McCloy's dinner on Wednesday, March 20, and that you will be guest speaker at the luncheon the same day for Chase's board of directors.

Usually, I invite our guest to join me at 12:15 p.m. for a short chat in my 17th floor office at 1 Chase Manhattan Plaza before we move on to our 60th floor dining room. During the luncheon, I make a few introductory remarks and then turn the program over to our speaker. Comments are informal, off the record, on a subject of your choice and usually not more than 15 minutes long. Our luncheon adjourns promptly at 2 p.m.

Enclosed for your information are Chase's 1983 Annual Report, Directors' booklet and September 1984 Quarterly Report. Since these publications have been printed, Alexander Hargrave of Chase Lincoln First Bank and Kay Whitmore of Eastman Kodak have joined our board.

I know you must have a very full calendar, but I am so pleased that you are able to join us for both of these events.

With kind personal regards,

Sincerely,
